Stand by Action of Conference

In Event it Opposes
Treaties Drafted
By the Foreign Ministers' Council

PARIS, July 30.—(AP)—U. S. Secretary of State Byrnes told the Paris peace conference today the United States would stand by the conference's recommendations in event it opposes by a two-thirds majority any of the peace treaties drafted by the foreign ministers council.

Byrnes spoke in the general assembly of the conference shortly after the rules committee had proposed unanimously that all committee meetings and general conference sessions be thrown open to the press of the world—step toward the Wilsonian ideal of a generation ago of "open covenants openly arrived at."

One conference hurdle which had promised to be embarrassing failed to materialize when the credentials committee met. The Russian did not, as expected, put forward the names of three members of the Soviet delegation representing Lithuania, Estonia and Latvia in an attempt to have them seated as heads of individual delegations.

Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov was not present in the hall when Byrnes made his speech, an answer to French President Bidault's inaugural address of yesterday. The Russian delegation, which has insisted upon unanimity of the four principal powers on recommendations to the peace conference, was headed by the vice foreign minister, Andrei Vishinsky at the moment.

Byrnes Makes Statement

"The United States will stand by its agreements in the Council of Foreign Ministers," Byrnes said. "But if the conference should, by a two-thirds vote of the governments here represented, make a contrary recommendation, the United States will use its influence to secure the adoption of that recommendation by the council."

Beginning his short speech with an object lesson on democracy Byrnes said:

"Democracy cannot be imposed or taught at the point of a bayonet. As terror inspires terror, so good will can inspire good will."

The rules committee recommendation on freedom of the press to the peace conference was scheduled to be acted upon by the general assembly later today. Secretary Byrnes had sponsored the move.

Since all 21 nations attending the conference are represented on the rules committee, the committee vote was tantamount to acceptance in the general assembly.

Full Report If Adopted

Adoption of what all committee meetings, where details of various clauses in individual treaties are to be debated, can be reported fully to the world.

There are five committees in all, including the rules committee. The others are the economic commission for the Balkans, the economic commission for Italy, the legal and drafting committee and the credentials committee.

In addition there is a subcommittee for each of the five defeated nations involved in the treaties, Italy, Romania, Hungary, Bulgaria and Finland.

Byrnes Leads Fight

Byrnes led the fight for freedom of information from the first. An American source said his motion for open meetings was immediately supported by Vyacheslav M. Molotov, Soviet foreign secretary, and Dr. H. V. E. Watt, the Australian minister of foreign affairs.

It was one of the few times the United States and Russian representatives have found themselves in immediate agreement. The American informant quoted Molotov as saying he favored the proposals had been reported incidentally been some distortion of the Soviet attitude toward the publication of the texts of the draft treaties and that some Soviet proposal had been reported inaccurately in the press.

Molotov was quoted as saying he believed this could be corrected if newspaper reporters were permitted to attend committee meetings.

Sedalia Bank Debits up 313 Per Cent

Reflect Huge
Increase in Volume
Of City's Business

Best gain in increased percentage of bank debits in the West Central States for the first six months of 1946 compared with a like period in 1939 goes to Sedalia, Mo. The increase is shown as 313 per cent in the American Banker newspaper in computations made by Kerlin Research, New York City.

This reflects a tremendous increase in volume of business in Sedalia for the 1946 six month period and in that respect puts Sedalia in top position among the 41 reporting cities in Minnesota, Iowa, South Dakota, Nebraska, Missouri and North Dakota.

Total bank debits for the half year period were $48,342,000.00. As stated this is a 313 per cent gain over the first six months of 1939 and 23.1 per cent increase over the first six months of 1945. Total debits for June were $8,327,000.00 which is 24 per cent increase over June 1945.

Few Top Sedalia

Eugene, Oregon in the Pacific Coast States group and Newnan, Georgia, in the South Atlantic group are the only towns that top Sedalia in the 1946-1939 comparison for the entire United States.

Eugene, Oregon had 351 per cent increase; Newnan, Georgia in the South Atlantic group, 317 percent; Helena, Arkansas in the Southwest States, 266 per cent; Reno, Nevada in the Mountain States, 251 per cent; Quincy, Ill., in Central States, East, 242 per cent; Vicksburg, Miss., in the Gulf and South Central States, 242 per cent; Holyoke, Mass., in the New England States, 220 per cent; Chester, Pa., in the North Atlantic States, 177 per cent.

Shortage of Sugar to Ease

WASHINGTON, July 30.—(AP)—George Dice, head of OPA's sugar rationing division, told congress today the nation's acute sugar shortage will be eased soon in most places.

Testifying before the house committee on food shortages, Dice said that within about two weeks most housewives will be able to find sugar enough to meet their ration allowances.

The OPA official said increases in sugar imports, plus shipments of western beet sugar to eastern markets will relieve shortages.

Both Dice and James M. Marshall, head of the agriculture department's sugar branch, stressed that no increase in the ration allowance is planned, however.

Expect Officers Return Tonight

BERLIN, July 30.—(AP)—Major Gen. Walter A. Keating, American commander in Berlin, announced tonight that the two American officers since July 4 were "expected to be returned tonight" from the Russian occupation zone.

The skipper of the ferry, 62-year-old Charles Edward Hendrix, estimated there were between 20 and 25 persons on his boat. Hendrix was saved in the crash when his pilot house was tossed onto one of the oil-laden barges.

Missing and believed sunk: Submarine Pilotfish and Apogon. (He omitted the submarine Sea Raven, at first reported missing.) Missing: Submarine Skipjack. Beached to prevent sinking: Destroyer Hughes, transport Fallon, submarine Dentada.

Capsized: Tank landing craft 1114.

Apparently damaged: Battleship New York and Pennsylvania; cruisers Salt Lake City and the Pensacola.

Deadly X-rays from some of the target fleet delayed complete inspections of all damage. The Nagato, for instance, was to have been towed to sea—but radioactivity had prevented salvage crews from approaching her.

Name Expeditors for Veterans Emergency Housing Program

CHICAGO, July 30.—(AP)—Appointment of two locality expeditors for the veterans emergency housing program in northwest and central Missouri was announced today by Charles J. Horan, regional housing expeditor for the National Housing Agency.

Named to handle the job in 24 northwest Missouri counties was Glenn W. Hazlett, who will have his headquarters in Kansas City. William H. Smith will be the expeditor for 33 counties in Central Missouri, with headquarters at Jefferson City.

They will help in setting up local production goals in cooperation with the mayors' emergency housing committees in the various cities.

Hazlett, a veteran of World War I, will have charge of the program in these counties: Atchison, Nodaway, Worth, Gentry, Harrison, Mercer, Grundy, Daviess, Dekalb, Andrew, Holt, Livingston, Caldwell, Clinton, Buchanan, Clay, Ray, Carroll, Saline, Pettis, Johnson, Lafayette, Jackson, and Cass.

Smith lived on Jefferson City from 1937 until 1939 when he served as resident engineer in the construction of school houses and other Public Works Administration projects.

Some in Uniform

Some of the attackers were in uniforms, others in farmer clothing and some wore only shorts.

"We could see them running through the corn rows and they looked like Indians on the war path," Frees said.

"We had been told by the Marines we were in a danger area. When we heard shooting, we leaped from our vehicle and dove into the fields."

"Three or four hand grenades exploded less than 20 feet from us. We scrambled into a depression in the sand and all the time we were there bullets ploved into the bank or whistled over our heads."

Hendrix said he had a tugboat license but had never obtained a license to operate a passenger craft. He insisted also, at the hearing conducted at the postoffice that he saw no light signals from the barge train and that no signal was given until it was too late for him to avoid the collision.

CARUTHERSVILLE, Mo., July 30.—(AP)—Bodies of two victims of the mid-channel collision of a Mississippi river ferry and a barge train near here Sunday night were recovered this morning at Cottonwood Point, 12 miles south of Caruthersville.

The bodies were identified as L. L. Green, 46, deputy circuit clerk of Caruthersville, and Jim Ed Kelley, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orben Kelley, also of Caruthersville.

The coast guard used grappling equipment in search of additional bodies of the nine or more persons believed to have died in the river accident.

Efforts will be made to raise the four automobiles and one pickup truck known to have been on the ferry when the flat boat was overturned in the swirling waters 50 yards off the Missouri shore.

A Memphis diver, Charles E. Brown, located at least one vehicle in the river yesterday, but had to await the arrival of grappling equipment to recover it.

Thirteen ferry passengers were saved. Another, a small boy, died after being hauled to shore.

The skipper of the ferry, 62-year-old Charles Edward Hendrix, estimated there were between 20 and 25 persons on his boat. Hendrix was saved in the crash when his pilot house was tossed onto one of the oil-laden barges.

Chinese Kill Four Marines, Wound Others

Four Hour Attack
On Truck Convoy
Southeast of Peiping

By Tom Masterson

PEIPING, July 30.—(AP)—Three hundred Chinese, some wearing the bluish green uniforms of the Communists, killed at least four U. S. Marines and wounded 12 others with automatic weapons, rifles and grenades during a violent four-hour attack on a truck convoy of 100 leathernecks, eyewitnesses related today.

A search is being made for other Marines, believed to be still missing.

The attackers, lying in ambush in cornfields 35 miles southeast of Peiping, would have wiped out the convoy had the Marines not elected to jump back in the trucks and roar away under fire, the witnesses said.

(In Nanking, Chou En-Lai, the chief Communist negotiator in efforts to settle China's fratricidal strife, expressed belief that the clash resulted from Marine provocation of Communist forces during the last three weeks and added that "Communists have absolutely no intention of unleashing a conflict.")

Provoked by Intrusions

(He said Communists have been provoked by Marine intrusions into their areas.)

Major Fred J. Frees of Sioux Falls, S. D., who was with the convoy of replacements bound for Peiping from Tientsin, said the attack erupted "like an explosion."

"They threw everything at us during the first hour of attack except the kitchen sink," chimed in Sgt. James West of Cincinnati. Frees and West, both army men, were convoy passengers.

Major Frees, a special service officer for the Peiping headquarters, told the Associated Press: "If the Marines had not reacted so efficiently and swiftly as they did, the convoy would have been taken in the first rush."

He declined to identify the attackers as Communists but said he saw two dead Chinese on the road who wore "bluish green uniforms," the color of those worn by Communists.

Some in Uniform

Some of the attackers were in uniforms, others in farmer clothing and some wore only shorts.

"We could see them running through the corn rows and they looked like Indians on the war path," Frees said.

Bride, 98, Chewed Tobacco Since She Was 4 Years Old

MATTOON, Ill., July 30.—(AP)—Mrs. Mary De Witt Wilson, 98, and Luther Wilson, 75, who said they conducted a "Sunday afternoon courtship" for three months, were honeymooning today following their marriage Saturday afternoon at nearby Charleston by Justice of the Peace Thomas Sanders, who doubles as a barber.

Mrs. Wilson, a widow with a daughter and three grandchildren, says she has chewed tobacco since she was 4 years old. She related: "We lived in Kentucky, and when I was 4 years old, I became ill and puny. One day I heard my father telling the doctor that he was ill when he was a child, and his parents gave him tobacco and it made him well.

"We grew tobacco, so I watched for a chance and took a twist of home-grown tobacco. I started tobacco, and got well and became able to eat my victuals."

"I have never smoked tobacco, though."

Wilson, a widower twice, has one daughter. Both Mr. and Mrs. Wilson draw old age pensions.

Asked whether they would pose for a photograph, Wilson told the photographer: "Okay—and next year you can come back and get a picture of our kids."

Open House at SAAF Thursday Is Called Off

The Open House to have been held at the Sedalia Army Air Field Thursday observing Army Air Force Day, has been called off, according to announcement today by Col. Milford I. Itz, acting commander, because of the threatened polio epidemic in Missouri.

While there are no cases in the area of the base Col. Itz, after conferring with medical men and in cooperation with the suggestions of the Missouri State Board of Health, decided as a preventive measure, not to hold the Open House at this time.

Stabs Woman To Death

ST. LOUIS, July 30.—(AP)—Police Lieut. Reynold Ferguson said today a former convict stabbed a young woman to death and seriously wounded another man and himself last night in what was believed a fit of jealousy.

The slayer was identified by Ferguson as Roy H. Whiskey, 36. The victims were Miss Bobbie Jean Kerr, 19-year-old factory worker and her companion Lewis J. Berg, former motorcycle patrolman. The stabbings occurred in a tavern on North Broadway as Berg and Miss Kerr were seated at a rear table.

Steve Cascio, who was seated at the bar, told police Whiskey entered the tavern, pulled out a butcher knife without warning and stabbed Berg in the back. He then wielded the knife on the young woman and fled from the tavern. As pursuers closed in on him, he stabbed himself in the throat.

Police Lieut. Ferguson said police records showed Whiskey once served a term in the Missouri penitentiary for armed robbery.

In Jefferson City, penitentiary Warden Ben Stewart said Whiskey stabbed two other prisoners to death in 1936, a few months after he entered the prison to serve a ten-year sentence.

Youth Doesn't Remember

CHICAGO, July 30.—(AP)—An elaborate plan for William Heirens to confess formally the Suzanne Degnan kidnapping-killing and two other slayings collapsed today, when State's Attorney William A. Tuohy announced the youth would say only, "I don't remember."

The prosecutor had received the 17-year-old University of Chicago student at the behest of the youth's attorneys, who announced Saturday he was "willing to sign a confession."

Malachy Coghlan, one of Heirens' five attorneys, said at that time that "the defense feels the time has come for Heirens to make known by confession to the state's attorney the facts of the various crimes charged against him."

Tuohy had announced at 11:12 a. m. that Heirens had started making his statement on the Degnan case. He disclosed three hours later, however, that the responses were of no consequence and that they would not be transcribed.

The prosecutor said that as a result of the youth's position, he would "proceed with the murder charges" against the youth.

DENVER, July 30.—(AP)—Deputy State Treasurer Jacob Willson picked up an envelope in today's mail addressed to "The Treasurer of the State of Colorado, Hartford, Conn." It had been forwarded carefully by Hartford.

Willson slit the envelope and under dropped a U. S. Government check for $400,000 made out to the State of Connecticut. Willson is returning the check—in another envelope—to Hartford.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—(AP)—OPA today raised retail ceiling prices an average of eight per cent on men's leather jackets, mackinaw coats and similar garments.

At the same time, it took up the question of completely lifting price controls from bread and bakery products.

The clothing price hike followed an increase of from 11 to 21 per cent ordered yesterday for shirts, shorts and pajamas.

The eight per cent boost applies also to leather coats, hunting and

Youth Taken To Hospital In Columbia

Sister of Boy
Who Died Now Has
Polio Disease

Bennie Morrison, aged about 21, of 504 East Fourth street, who served in the army, was sent to the University of Missouri hospital, Columbia, by Dr. K. R. Holdren, because he is ill and symptoms resemble those of infantile paralysis victims.

"I would not say he had the disease, or that he didn't," said Dr. Holdren today, "but there were enough symptoms to make me suspicious and I thought it better to be on the safe side, so had him taken over to Columbia in an ambulance for special treatment."

Ruth Ellen Hudson, 20, of Kansas City, sister of Elbert Hudson Smith, who died of the disease in the Columbia hospital last week, is also ill and in a Kansas City hospital. According to word to her parents in Smithton she has the polio disease in a very light form and seems to be getting along nicely.

ST. LOUIS, July 30.—(AP)—The isolation division of city hospital has been closed temporarily to patients of Illinois and out-state Missouri because the division is crowded with infantile paralysis patients, Dr. Cyril J. Costello, medical director of the hospital, announced today.

Arrangements will be made to hospitalize at private institutions here patients arriving at the hospital from outstate the St. Louis area, Dr. Costello said.

The isolation division of city hospital, which has 40 beds, had 38 patients last night, Dr. Costello reported. Twenty-eight of them are suffering from poliomyelitis.

Police Lieut. Ferguson said police records showed Whiskey once served a term in the Missouri penitentiary for armed robbery.

In Jefferson City, penitentiary Warden Ben Stewart said Whiskey stabbed two other prisoners to death in 1936, a few months after he entered the prison to serve a ten-year sentence.

Hopp Retains First Place in Batting Derby

NEW YORK, July 29—(AP)—Mickey Vernon of the Washington Senators failed to add a point to his batting average during the past week but the lefthanded hitting first sacker of the Nats retained the individual batting leadership of the American League while Johnny Hopp of the Boston Braves retained first place in the National League's batting derby.

Vernon, who relinquished the lead to Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox last week, rapped out nine hits in 26 trips to the plate including games of Sunday while Williams collected only five safeties in 23 appearances to the plate to drop from .365 to second with .355, two points behind Vernon's .357.

"DRESSED TO KILL"

Softball Game Was 'Comedy of Errors'

What was supposed to have been a softball game at Liberty Park Monday night turned out to be a "Comedy of Errors." Sweet Springs defeated the Sacred Heart Red Birds by a score of 23 to 10. The Red Birds accumulated a total of 15 errors with distribution equal among the players.

For the information of the fans from Sweet Springs the reason the score was not put on the official board in center field was not one of humiliation. The score keeper could not find a number 12 to fit in the block.

The Red Birds will travel to the Sedalia Army Air Field on Thursday afternoon to take part in Army Air Force Day. They will meet the SAAF team at 4 o'clock.

Demand Great For Tickets To Football

DALLAS, July 30—(AP)—They are already standing in line for tickets to southwest conference football games with the season two months away.

Member schools report the greatest demand in history. The advance sale at the University of Texas is 650 per cent—repeat, 650 per cent—more than last year. Business Manager Ed Olle says 100,000 people want to see Texas and Texas A. & M. play at Austin Thanksgiving day.

At least three sell-outs loom in Dallas. The only seats left for the Texas-Oklahoma game Oct. 12 are behind the goal posts at the Cotton Bowl. Its capacity is 47,000. The Southern Methodist-Oklahoma A. & M. game at the bowl Oct. 11 is causing those in the business office at SMU to worry over whether they can come close to meeting the ticket demand.

Southern Methodist already is sure of a capacity crowd for the SMU-Texas A. & M. game at Onyiah stadium here Nov. 9.

Applications Mailed Out
Texas A. & M. has mailed applications to approximately 16,000 former students and will fill the orders Sept. 1. The general public is instructed not to apply for tickets until Sept. 1.

Howard Grubbs, business manager of Texas Christian athletics, says he has the heaviest demand in history. Rice has already sold 10,000 season tickets—an all-time record. Baylor doesn't open its sale until Aug. 26 but advance reservations indicate the largest attendance in the university's history.

Athletic Business Manager Glen Rose of Arkansas said indications were that tickets for the university's games soon would be as scarce as bacon. Capacity of the Razorback stadium—12,500—is due to be severely taxed.

Lloyd C. Dean Athletic Director At CMSTC

WARRENSBURG, Mo., July 30—(AP)—Lloyd C. Dean of Mt. Vernon, Ia., has been appointed athletic director, and Earl Keth of Chicago has been named basketball coach at Central Missouri state college, George W. Diemer, president, announced Monday.

Dean was a star basketball and football player at Cornell college in 1925-26. He later coached basketball and track and was assistant football coach and director of physical education at Cornell college, was director of athletics and coach of football, basketball and track at Simpson College, Indianola, Ia., and was superintendent of recreation for Cedar Rapids, Ia. He was a lieutenant colonel in the army air forces during the war. Dean will assume his duties here August 1.

Keith, central Missouri graduate and former cage star, played on Mule teams which won the national collegiate tournament at Kansas City in 1937 and 1938. He served in the navy as a physical education officer, and at present is enrolled at Missouri university. He will come here August 8.

St. Louis Team Runs Into Former Mates

By Ralph Roden
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Former St. Louis Cardinal players and graduates of their farm system have been responsible for a number of defeats suffered by the Red Birds this season and the aspirants for the National league pennant will run into some of their former mates when they open a crucial three-game series with the pace-setting Brooklyn Dodgers at Ebbets field tonight.

Leo Durocher, manager of the Dodgers and a member of the St. Louis' famous 1934 "Gas House Gang," has nominated Rube Melton, who hurled in the Cards' chain system to start for the Dodgers.

Pilot Eddie Dyer of the Cards, who trail the Dodgers by two-and-one-half games, has selected Southpaw Howie Pollet, who holds three straight victories over the Brooks, to oppose Melton.

Reiser Scored
Brooklyn's Pistol Pete Reiser, another ex-St. Louis farmhand, and who since has been a fixture in Durocher's outfield, figured prominently in the victory scored by the leaders over Cincinnati yesterday.

Reiser smacked an inside-the-park three-run homer in the fifth inning to overcome a 3-1 Cincinnati lead and the Dodgers went on to win 7-3.

Relief Pitcher Hank Behrman held the Red Legs to one hit over the final four frames but Starter Hal Gregg received credit for the win.

Pitcher Mort Cooper and Outfielder Garden Gillenwater, former Cardinal now performing with the Boston Braves, played important roles in the Braves' 2-1 win over the Mound City aggregation under the lights at Boston.

Fanned Seven
Cooper fanned seven and allowed his former mates six hits, including a ninth-inning home run by Whitey Kurowski, while Gillenwater clouted the game-winning homer in the second inning. Tommy Holmes also slugged Starter Johnny Beazley for a towering four-bagger.

Chicago's third place Cubs drew to within four games of St. Louis and six-and-one-half of the Dodgers as they noosed out the New York Giants, 5-4, in 11 innings.

In the American league, the New York Yankees fell 11½ games back of the idle Boston Red Sox by losing in 12 innings to the Chicago White Sox, 4-3.

The Washington Senators trimmed the Cleveland Indians in a double header, taking the opener 2-1 in ten innings and the nightcap, 8-4.

Increase In Some Clothing For Men, Boys

WASHINGTON, July 30.—(AP)—OPA today authorized an immediate general increase of 11 percent in retail ceiling prices for men's shirts, shorts and pajamas.

The agency also granted an additional increase of up to 10 percent, on top of the 11 percent, for men's and boys' dress shirts and boys' sport shirts in lower price brackets. These increases were granted under provisions of the old price control law which the industry earnings be maintained at the 1936-39 level.

Additional clothing increases, estimated by some OPA officials at from 15 to 20 percent, will be granted later under terms of the price control revival law which became effective July 25.

Compensates Manufacturers
Today's order compensates manufacturers for increase in labor and materials costs through June 30. The previous cut-off date on these increases had been August 18, 1945.

The full extra ten percent increase authorized for men's and boys' shirts may be charged only when this would not raise prices over certain maximums established by OPA.

General these retail maximums are about $1.84 on men's dress shirts, $1.04 on one type of boys' shirts and $1.35 on another type.

OPA said the general 11 percent increase will raise retail ceilings on a shirt now selling for $2.50, for example, to about $2.80.

OPA said today's increases result from an overall boost in the price of cotton textiles which went into effect last March.

The preliminary hearing of Armand J. Weaver, charged with driving a car while intoxicated, was continued this morning by Judge W. E. Scotten, sitting as ex-officio justice of the peace, until August 15. The continuance was granted after Prosecuting Attorney L. J. Harned stated one of the witnesses could not be located, Miss Zeta Woodward, a nurse at the Bothwell hospital, who assisted in rendering emergency treatment to the boy following an accident at Broadway and Grand avenue.

The reason Miss Woodward could not be located was that she was out of the city on her days off from duty at the hospital, it was reported this afternoon by hospital authorities.

The youth was the driver of a Ford automobile which collided with a Cadillac sedan driven by Harold Roberts, of Kansas City, early the morning of July 21. At that time Miss Wanda Brown, 908 South Vermont avenue, a passenger in the car driven by Weaver, received a fracture of the second vertebra, a severe neck injury. She also received numerous cuts, bruises and abrasions.

Miss Brown was taken to the State hospital at Columbia for special treatment.

Weaver is at liberty under bond pending his hearing.

Alleged Bank Robber Dies

KIRKSVILLE, Mo., July 30.—(AP)—Glenn Hills, charged with the hold-up of the LaPlata State bank last March, died today of a self-inflicted bullet wound in a Kirksville hospital.

He was found unconscious and slumped over a farm gate last Thursday morning at the old Hills farm, six miles southwest of here. There was a bullet wound in his forehead.

Officers summoned after he appeared in the neighborhood, found the 34-year-old hunter. There was a revolver in his right hand and a note in his left, saying "I don't feel like going on."

Hills had been sought since a short time after the robbery in which $5,880 was taken at gunpoint. He also was wanted by the FBI as a parole violator from the Atlanta, Ga., federal prison.

Monday that his two sons, 12 and 14 years old, had taken a horse to the sale at the M-K-T stockyards Monday morning and had not been seen since. AIR POWER is PEACE POWER

A grateful nation today salutes the world's most powerful air force whose vast wartime strength now serves as a bright potential for the maintenance of a firm and everlasting peace.

Founded thirty-nine years ago today, the Army Air Forces has come a long way from small and experimental beginnings. Back in 1907 there were only one officer and two enlisted men. There were no airplanes until two years later, when Orville Wright delivered his first military craft. The giant, triumphant force which speeded the end of World War II grew out of the vision and ingenuity of the men who saw, from the first, the immensity of air power. Many of those pioneering airmen are turning their abilities to the demands of the future.

The Air Forces that crushed Germany's ability to make war and finished Japan with life-saving speed, was made up of bombers and fighters whose sole aim was to end the horror of war. Today, in addition to fighters and bombers for defense, the Army Air Forces has begun a mighty research program for the benefit of a world at peace.

Equipped with the latest in radar devices, Army Air Forces planes are able to fly into storm zones, chart the course and speed of an approaching hurricane, and rush the warning to weather stations in time to avert waste and tragedy.

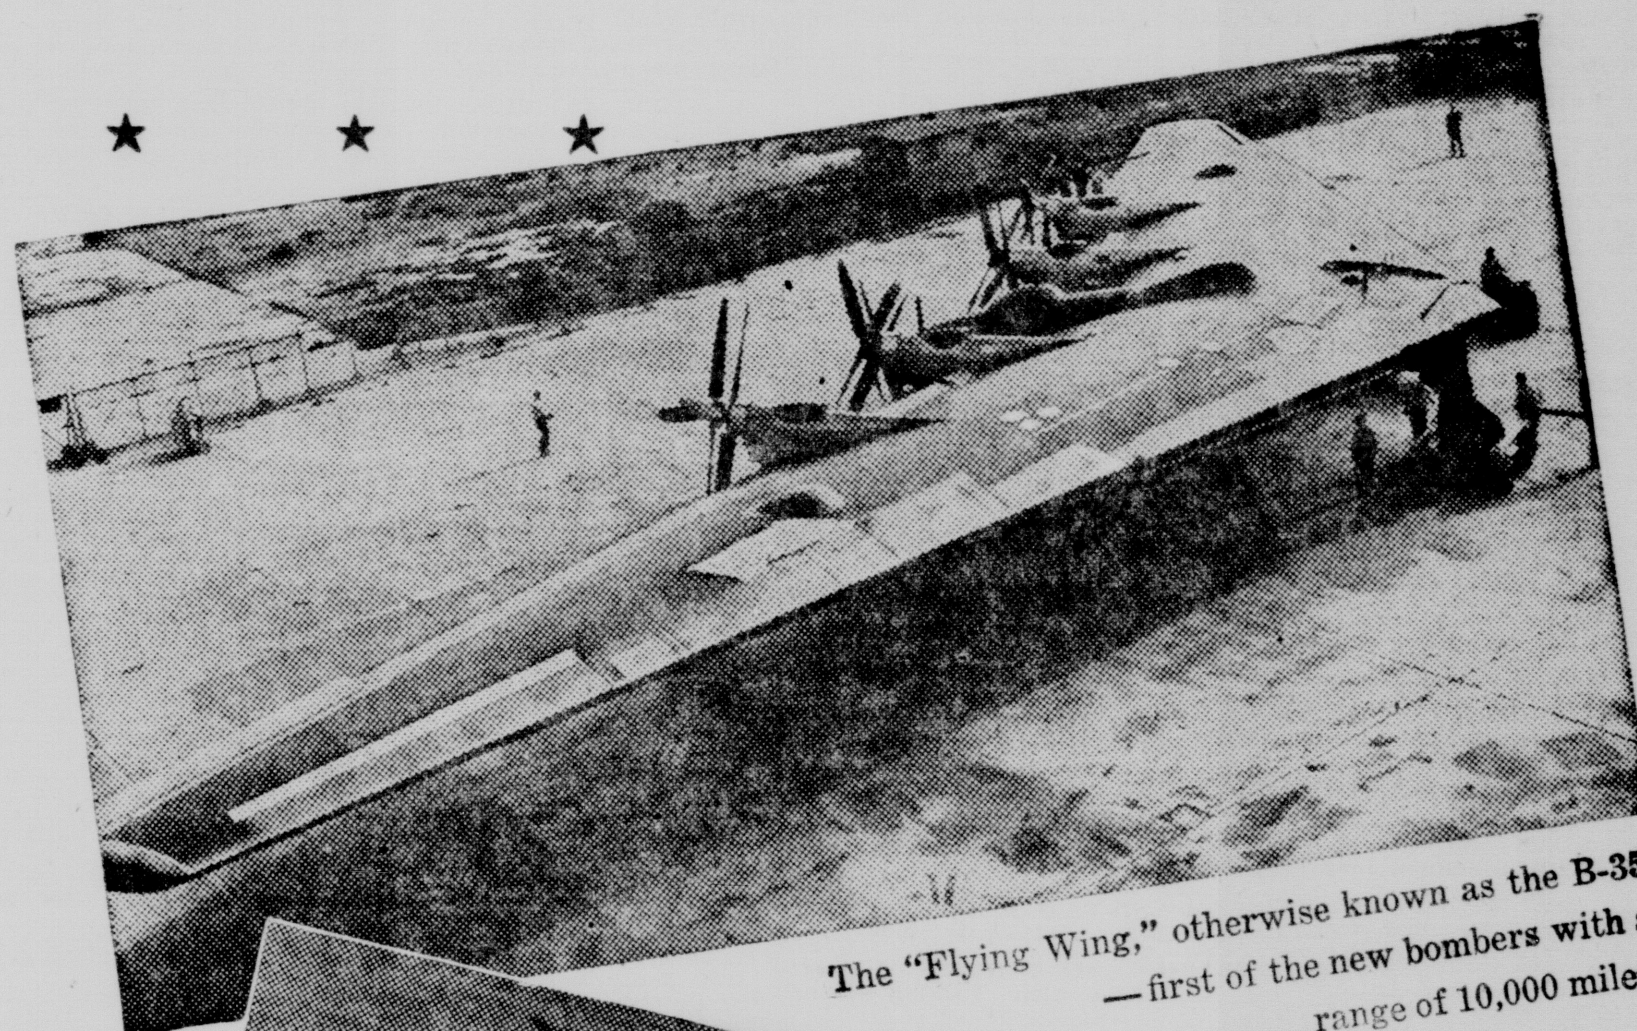

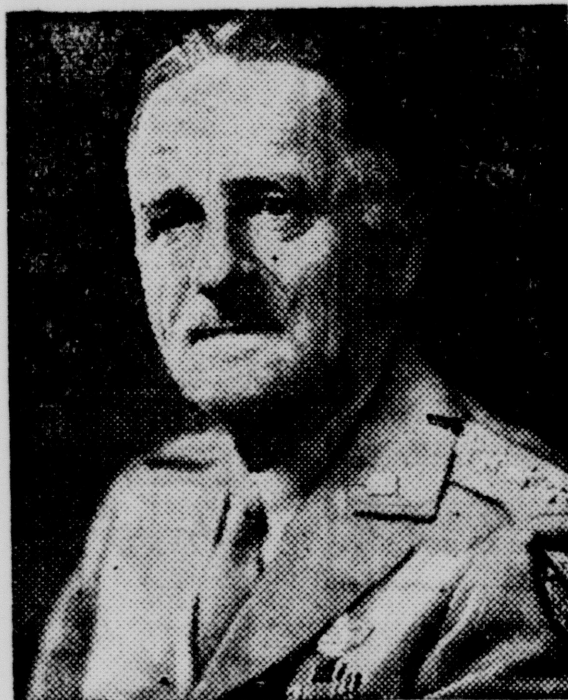

Experimental jet-propelled planes, with Army fliers at the controls, will pioneer the way to speeds faster than sound.

Improved design, greater engine power, and new flight techniques will open the way to still greater safety in commercial transport. Army bombers will be the first to test and report on innovations which later will be made available to the nation's civil air lines.

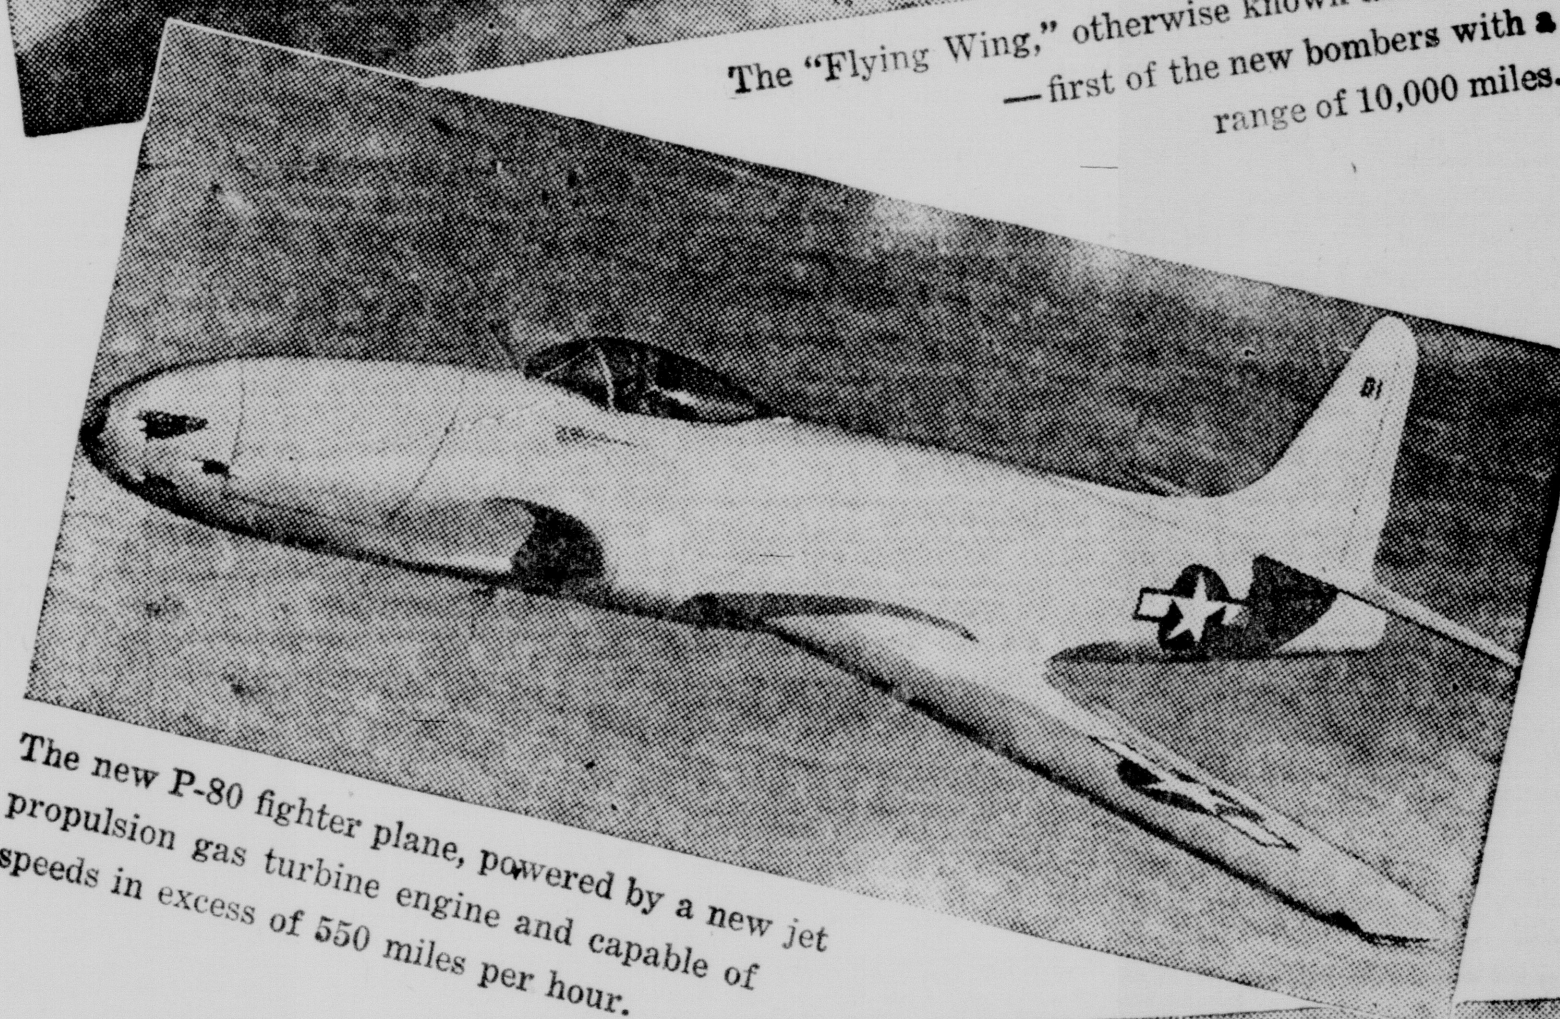

Side by side with technological progress goes the Air Forces' vital duty of preserving world peace and national security. The nation's safety, in a world where distance now means little, rests with the men who fly. It is to them that we offer our thanks—with the promise that we will do our part toward keeping alive the hope for world peace. The future of the Air Forces is the future of the nation.

"The mission of the Army Air Forces in peacetime is to develop and maintain a military air force capable of immediate, sustained, and expanding application of the doctrine of military air power. It must be geared to work in harmony with the nation's ground and naval services in supporting American foreign policy and maintaining the peace. For this task in national security the Army Air Forces needs the full support of the American people."

The Daily Washington
Merry-Go-Round

WASHINGTON, July 30.—One year ago, Jimmie Byrnes, newly appointed secretary of state, was one of the cockiest men in Washington. Bustling back and forth between the state department and the White House he gave the impression of complete confidence in his own ability to unravel the tangled state of the world.

Today, James F. Byrnes is a visibly older and wiser man. His air of cocksureness is gone. He is tired and his health is not too good. His gracious South Carolina charm is just as contagious as ever, but sometimes his buoyant spirit lags and it is easy to see that the past year has taken its toll on Jimmie Byrnes.

The past year has seen Jimmie take five grueling air trips to Europe, attend five crucial conferences on which depended the peace of the world. No wonder Jimmie is tired.

The past year has also seen Byrnes experience two slight tiffs with his boss in the White House and some extremely unpleasant rows with his old sparring partner, M. Molotov. Once they came nearer blows than ever leaked out to the papers.

It began all in fun. Byrnes was attending a diplomatic tea at the American embassy in Paris, was in jovial mood and started to joke with Molotov by playfully wrestling with him. The Russian also in good humor, at first pretended to spar back. Then Byrnes, by accident, slipped his hand in Molotov's inside breast pocket. The Soviet foreign ambassador stiffened with anger, grabbed Byrnes' hand. At first, it was embarrassing. Then Molotov, realizing it was all in jest, took out his handkerchief and waved it above his head as if in surrender.

Byrnes Grows in Stature

Despite the discouragement of the past year, however, despite our stumbling progress toward peace, despite the ups and downs of Jimmie's diplomacy, the fact remains that Byrnes has become an increasingly effective secretary of state. He has grown with the months. Despite his critics on Capitol Hill, Byrnes is running a far more efficient state department than his old friend, Cordell Hull, did. And his successes abroad must be measured not merely in achievements but in relation to the obstacles in his path.

It is true that Jimmie Byrnes has learned to be a good secretary of state at the expense of the nation. But it is also true that he has so far outstripped his predecessors in intelligent handling of foreign affairs that his lessons in diplomacy are a good investment. It is a pity they could not have started sooner.

Byrnes began at the London foreign ministers conference last September by being vigorously anti-Russian. Repeatedly he and Molotov were at odds. At one point when Byrnes proposed discussing the Dardanelles, Molotov countered:

"Now we will discuss the Panama canal."

"That's none of your damn business," exploded the American secretary of state.

Not Anti-Russian

After London, however, Byrnes came to the sober conclusion that the United States must lean over backward to get along with Russia. So a few weeks later he went to Moscow, taking with him only advisers sympathetic to Russia. For days he labored with

THEY were late arriving at the Bacon cabin but after one glance at their radiant faces, neither Carolyn nor her mother asked questions. The meal was delightful and the four spent a long quiet evening beside the calm waters of the lake, sometimes exchanging interesting bits of news but often sitting silent while the shadows lengthened and a big round moon climbed above the trees and headed for the opposite shore.

Sally didn't expect to sleep much when she went to bed that night. She was too excited. Her heart didn't seem to quiet down and her brain seethed with plans. What would the girls think—Margaret and Dora and the rest? What would Norma Holden have to say? And last of all, what would Aunt Clem say? Would she approve? She wished she could see her alone—to break it to her gently. But after all, perhaps it was better that Jim was to be alone. Aunt Clem wouldn't be so likely to ask embarrassing questions—make confusing remarks or mysterious hints as she so often did when they were alone.

It was after midnight when at last she fell into a troubled sleep to waken when her alarm clock whirled and she heard thunder crashing and saw lightning splitting the western sky in long uneven dashes. She slipped out of bed and slammed the window shut and heard the ambulance rush away from the courtyard below. She turned at a sharp knock on her door and reached for a robe as she called "Come."

Stalin and Molotov, did his best to get along. At one conference, lasting until 2 a. m., Byrnes pleaded with Stalin to realize that the American people had no quarrel with Russia, that their greatest ambition was to remain permanent friends. In the end, Byrnes found himself doing most of the compromising. The Russians yielded little.

Since then, Byrnes gradually and reluctantly has come round to the opinion that the Russians don't want to play ball with the USA, that they deliberately keep their people stirred up over the phantom threat of war with the outside world. To quiet unrest, to preserve unity at home, the Kremlin figures such a policy is necessary.

Yet Byrnes is not anti-Russian. Despite his vigorous tiffs with Molotov, those who have watched him on the inside know that he is severely anxious to cooperate. When he was war mobilizer, Byrnes brought down the ax on 72 heavy warships proposed by Adm. Ernie King for construction after the war. The only nation they could be aimed against was Russia and Byrnes emphatically said they could not be built.

Later he aroused the resentment of U. S. navy chiefs by ceding the Kurile islands to Russia, though they had been captured by the USA. Byrnes, however, thought it would improve U. S.—USSR relations if Russia got them.

But finally Byrnes concluded that the more he appeased Russia, the more it demanded appeasement and that the chief thing Molotov understands is firmness.

Not Thinking of Presidency

Not everyone in the Truman cabinet likes Jimmie Byrnes. Some of the president's friends are jealous. They say he dwarfs his chief in the White House, that Jimmie can never forget only a heartbeat separates him from being president.

It is quite true that Byrnes is the most experienced executive in the entire administration—more experienced than his chief. He has been representative, senator, supreme court justice, war mobilizer and now secretary of state. It is also true that Jimmie was a bitterly disappointed man when Roosevelt passed him over as vice president at Chicago in favor of Truman. Byrnes had set his heart on being FDR's running mate, thought he had a definite commitment from the president.

But despite that background, Jimmie Byrnes is no longer thinking about the presidency. He has set his heart on just one thing—winning the peace.

When he first resigned from the senate to go on the supreme court, Jimmie walked down the streets of Spartansburg, S. C., where he lives, reveling in the fact that people no longer waylaid him to ask for jobs. He puttered around a grocery store buying on me again, Sally Maynard." Dora went on, still peeved at the other's obvious surprise at her news. "Sometimes I think you made the whole thing up to act as a red herring—a cover-up for your affair with Hallock."

SALLY stared at her in open-eyed wonder. "Oh—oh!" she whispered and Dora with a little rush of contrition threw her arms about her.

"I didn't mean it, darling," she cried. "Please, please forgive me! I'm a nasty little beast; but"—she drew back from her embrace to say earnestly—"you weren't very flattering just now, you know. What's so surprising about Bill falling for me?"

"It isn't at all surprising," Sally assured her. "What surprised me is myself—my dumbness that I didn't see it coming. Does Margaret know?"

"Damn it!" the other said dejectedly. "She was worse than you were. And I don't see why." Sally laughed and hugged her close. "I'm so happy for you, darling. Bill's a fine lad; but how are you going to keep Sunderlin from knowing?"

"She hasn't found out about you and Jim Hallock, has she?" Dora asked.

"Why do you say that?" Sally demanded, her face suffused.

"Why, every member of the staff has been watching you two," she said matter-of-factly. "Oh, I know you have acted aloof and above reproach like—like Caesar's wife was supposed to; but you haven't fooled most of us and neither has he. Are you going to be married before he leaves, Sally? Why don't you break down and confess? It isn't anything to be ashamed of."

"Of course not," Sally said unexpectedly. "You have all been so much wiser than I, Dora. I didn't know until last evening that I loved him."

"Wh—what? You didn't? Gosh, Sally, you are dumb. Why, even I knew that."

State Health Director on Infantile Paralysis

Dr. R. M. James, director of the Division of Health, State of Missouri, has issued the following statement with reference to poliomyelitis:

"Every year when the weather gets warm and it is time for us to start out on our recreational period, the danger of poliomyelitis incites unnecessary fear in many of our hearts. This fear is based not on the number of deaths that occur from this disease, but on the fact that, if one does become infected with poliomyelitis virus, the person so afflicted may be left with a paralysis.

Disease Varies

"There is usually a considerable variation in the prevalence of poliomyelitis from year to year. It is not possible to predict with certainty when an outbreak of the disease will occur nor where it will strike. It is usually a disease of the late summer, being more prevalent in August and September than in other months, but cases do begin to appear at an earlier date. From the first of the year until the present time, eighty (80) cases of this disease have been reported within the state boundaries. It is possible that we may have a large number of cases of poliomyelitis during the season.

Facts Everyone Should Know

"There are certain things that all persons should realize about poliomyelitis. To begin with, poliomyelitis is not always a fatal disease. Four-fifths of the children may recover with no permanent paralysis. Today, a paralyzed arm or leg can be treated, and this treatment has been very successful.

Kills One, Slashes 2, Slashes Own Throat

ST. LOUIS, July 30—(P)—A 24-year-old woman was stabbed to death and two men wounded in a tavern Monday night by a man police Lt. Reynolds Ferguson identified as a former Missouri convict who a few minutes later slashed his own throat at the tavern door.

The slain woman was identified as Bobbie Jean Kerr. Wounded were Louis Berg, a former policeman who operated the tavern; Steve Cascio, 29, a hotel employee, and Roy H. Whipey, 36, who, Ferguson said he was told, injured the others.

Ferguson quoted Cascio as saying that Whipey came into the tavern, stabbed Miss Kerr and Berg, and as Cascio tried to halt him, slashed Cascio with his knife. Then, according to Ferguson, the man ducked a chair thrown at him, ran down the street and returned in a few minutes, cutting his own throat at the tavern door.

Had No Idea What Butter Was Like

TOKYO, Tuesday, July 30—(P)—Notified that butter from abroad was to be distributed, women of a Tokyo suburb, not at all sure what butter was, showed up to get it with beer bottles, sake bottles or straw bags.

One expected to get oil. Another said she thought butter would be chips of wood.

One woman tried boiling it. When she saw it turn to "oil," she figured the problem was solved. She told other housewives and soon everyone in the neighborhood was busy boiling butter.

Often Not Recognized

"Another factor about poliomyelitis is that it is frequently a very mild disease and a patient may show only mild symptoms and no paralysis may develop. A mild case may consist merely of a headache, nausea and vomiting and a few aches and pains of the muscles that clear rapidly, but at the same time the disease may be spread by this case. Also, persons who are not ill may be carriers, so it is well to avoid crowds if the disease is rife. Parents need to be on constant guard at such times as the first symptoms of the disease may be very mild. Upper-respiratory infections should not be considered lightly during a season when this disease may be prevalent. After a day or so of indisposition, the more severe indications such as stiff neck and pain in the muscles may appear and be followed by some paralysis.

Spread by Body Discharges

Poliomyelitis may be spread by coming in contact with discharges from the nose and mouth of persons ill with the disease. These discharges may be spread to others before the paralysis appears in the patient. Discharges from the bowels and bladder may also spread the infectious agent of poliomyelitis. Ingestion of contaminated water, milk and other foods are other possible means of spreading the infection. Carriers, who play an important part in the spread of the disease, are difficult to discover. Therefore, to aid in preventing the spread of the disease, those with mild illness such as gastro-intestinal upset, upper-respiratory infections, headache and malaise, should stay away from crowds.

Maintain Resistance, Avoid Groups

"It is also well during the period of the warm summer months when we are apt to carry out more physical activities than usual to restrain children so that they do not become overtired and that they do not eat too fast in order to hurry out and play again. With restraint, keeping away from crowds, controlling of flies and eating a properly balanced diet, some protection is afforded. During the polio seasons, all persons should consider and follow a sane routine of living, thus aiding prevention by maintaining general health and resistance against this disease.

"R. M. James, M. D., "Director Division of Health."

Attended Funeral In Warrensburg

Sedaliaans who went to Warrensburg to attend the funeral of Fred Bremer held Sunday afternoon were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bacon, 1014 South Lamine, with whom Mr. Bremer made his home nine years, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Fleming of North Park avenue, Miss Pearl Scott and Hugh T. Kearney, 412 South Washington avenue.

Fala Not Welcome At Portland Ore. Hotel

PORTLAND, Me., July 30—(P)—Fala, who has had entrée to the White House, is not acceptable as a guest of Portland's hotel Eastland.

So it developed Monday. Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt cancelled her reservations there and spent last night at a tourist camp.

Leo G. Gaines, an assistant manager, said an Eastland clerk explained to Mrs. Roosevelt that dogs could not be taken above the lobby.

She merely replied, "all right," Gaines said, and left the hotel. Mrs. Roosevelt did not bring her dog into the lobby, Gaines said.

said, that the hotel did not know that it was Fala. But the proprietor of the Royal River cabins at nearby Yarmouth said it was the late president's black Scottie that stayed here with his mistress.
